

TIME'S UP IN WORK AND POLITICS: How the Me Too Movement Creates Permanent Change

Generously Sponsored by Gayle and Bob Jacobs

Hilary Rosen is a well-known Washington, D.C. strategist who navigates the intersection of communications, media, and politics. She is currently an on-air CNN political analyst and a partner at SKDKnickerbocker. Her focus is advocating for women, LGBT issues and progressive causes. Rosen is a founding co-chair of the Time's Up Legal Defense Fund, the organization created by women in the entertainment industry to help survivors of sexual harassment in the workplace.

TIME'S UP™ is an organization that insists on safe, fair and dignified work for women of all kinds. We want women from the factory floor to the floor of the Stock Exchange to feel linked as sisters as we shift the paradigm of workplace culture.

Powered by women, TIME'S UP addresses the systemic inequality and injustice in the workplace that have kept underrepresented groups from reaching their full potential. We partner with leading advocates for equality and safety to improve laws, employment agreements, and corporate policies; help change the face of corporate boardrooms and the C-suite; and enable more women and men to access our legal system to hold wrongdoers accountable.

No more silence. No more waiting. No more tolerance for discrimination, harassment or abuse.

TIME'S UP™

Sexual harassment has been a pervasive cancer on the path for women's equality. A movement has spawned and many organizations — especially Time's Up formed by the women of Hollywood — aim to keep the momentum growing. Rosen has a unique perspective on how these issues are playing out in the boardroom, voting booth and at kitchen tables across America.
